FOREWORD

The preparation of this annual became a pleasure for us when we realized that it would commemorate the good times that we have participated in while in high school. Classes, sports and activities presented a wide scope of material from which to choose; but bit by bit, we collected the script that would best suit our needs and have brought it forth in the form of this year-book. We can no more than outline the happenings of the year; but if you, while scanning this book, can see what Elmhurst means to us, then our efforts have not been in vain.

Comes 1952! Four score and some young "Greenings" were plucked from small wings of achievement and placed within these shafts of white. Good was the Skipper at the helm, Charles Jeffrey, who helped us toward our goal. Mates one, two, and three, were Walter Lamboley, Billy Mitchell and Bob Farrell.

Will you believe it? They came back for more and more. Mr. Eickhoff, their "Grand Master" declared them incomparable. What with losing a few and gaining some, they were as mighty as ever. Members of the class were prominent in debating, athletics, dramatics and publications. An entirely new set of officers were elected. Bob Farrell was made president, Billy Mitchell vice-president, and Reba Ray secretary-treasurer.

Who's there? 'Tis eight and fifty juniors on election day! Fred Gronau, Charles Engle, Ruth Clem, and Dorothy Gebhart were the champions.

With a snip, snip here; and a snip, snip there! So-o-a Prom! Gertrude Wolf headed the decoration committee with Charles Gorrell, Ruth Clem and Fred Gronau assisting. Dale McKinzie was chairman of the orchestra committee and Reba Ray of refreshments.

Did you ever see a dream walking? Well, we did, when Reba Ray, Prom Queen of '35, swished and swirled down a flower-strewn path for the Coronation.

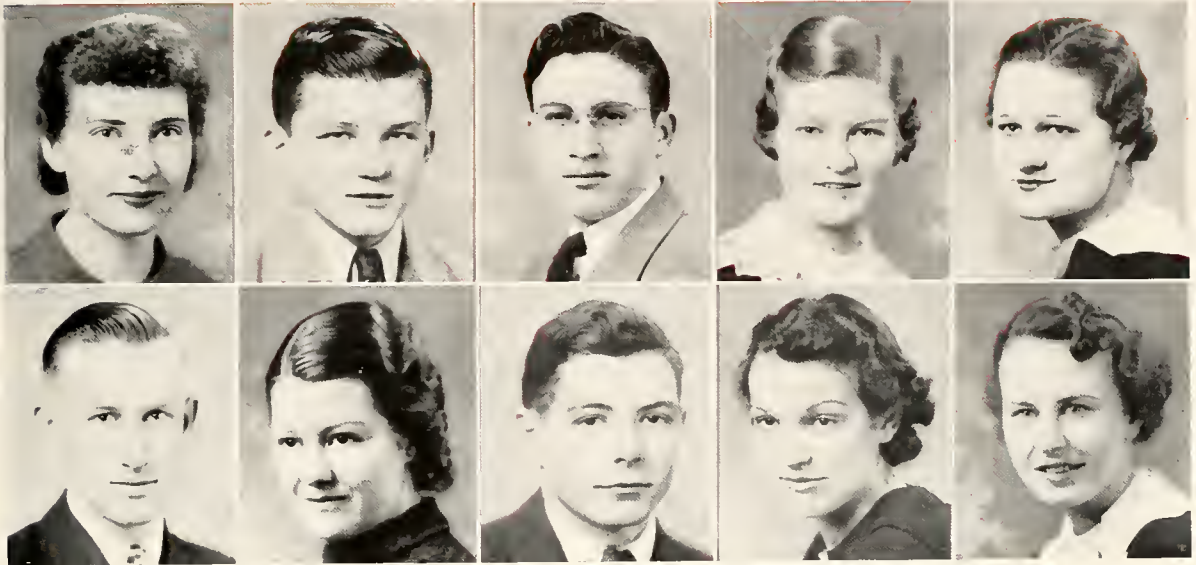

As Seniors, they persuaded one Letha Falls, High Priestess residing over a small abode in the upper story, to stay by till—say when. Her helpers were Charles Gorrell, Fred Gronau, Gertrude Wolf, and Dick Carriger.

Then came the "Campus Quarantine," a comedy given by the "ham" actors of the class.

Seniors will, as all good things must, come to an end with a banquet, a breakfast and Commencement.

The 1936

JUNIOR CLASS

Standing: Alex Yovan, Albert Lunz, Bob Snyder, Paul Auman, Maurice Robertson, Ray Green, Earl Shaefer, Sam Royer, Floyd Carsten, Fred Hugenell.

HISTORY

For the juniors' year of responsibility, Jack Oswald was elected president; Earl Shaefer, vice-president; Maurice Robertson, treasurer; and Waldo Albert, secretary. Helen Fusselman and Betty McMahon served at the candy counter. Dick Parkison and Ruth Langmeyer edited the Advance. Prom decorations were in charge of Ruth Langmeyer, Marjorie Hargrave, Alba Davis, Jeanette Hyser, Neleana Sanders, Robert Gebhart and Paul Auman. Other committees were: refreshments—Orna Amstutz, Mary Carriger, Vi McCoy, Ruth Seidner and Anna Mae Forschner; publicity—Dick Parkison; programs and invitations — John Alden, Harriet Oyer and Jean Goble; orchestra—Maurice Robertson, Marilyn Fox and Don Scherer.

JUNIOR CLASS

Standing Frank Harvout, Bob Swank, DeWitt Porter, Frank Albert, John Newburn, Harold Wiegman, Robert Gebhart, Ernest Pond, Don Scherer, Waldo Albert.
Second Row: Rilla Wilson, Helen Watt, Neleana Saunders, Mary Ellen Woods, Clotilda Prince, Jo Thurber, Anna Mae Forschner, Lucille Coleman, Violet Wolfe, Esther Hartman, Esther Pfeiffer.

ACTIVITIES

The Junior Prom was the most important activity. When the dancers stepped into the hollow tree, May 2, they were, as per tradition, in Fairyland. The decorations carried out the atmosphere of the fantastic giant toadstools, snails, spiders, gnomes, fairies, and typical scenes from childhood tales lining the walls. Alice Stroh was crowned Queen of the affair for which Cheaver's "Kings of Rythm," played. The Queen's attendants were: Mary Carriger, Marilyn Fox, Eileen Davis, Joan Daniels, Helen Fusselman and Betty McMahon. The committees whose work made the Prom a success were under the supervision of Mr. Charles Eickhoff, the class sponsor.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Standing: Bob Myers, Wesley Adams, Jack Harper, Bill Rowe, Arnold Engle, Allen Cox, Richard Huyette, Delmar Grotian.
Second Row: Helen Schoenemann, Martha Richardson, Dorothy Neuman, Maxine Smith, Elnora Prince, Mildred Gebhart, Katie Wilhoite, Betty Wedler, Miss Auman.

The Sophomore Clipper began its voyage with Robert Feagles at the helm. Assisting Captain Feagles in his duties of the Class of 1938 were Arnold Engle, vice-president; Dorothy Braeuer, secretary; and Robert Kortakr, treasurer. Their sponsor was Miss Auman.

When freshmen, the class showed its athletic ability by winning the Interclass Basketball Tournament from the seniors in the final game. They also won by a great majority the Interclass Track Meet.

The Parties of that year, the first in January and the second in May were successful, due to the efforts of Eugene Schwan, Dorothy Braeuer, Robert Feagles, Elnora Prince, and the class advisor, Mr. Jeffrey.

ACTIVITIES

The versatility of the Sophomore Class is evident in that the majority of its fifty members have actively participated in the broad extra-curricular program at Elmhurst.

William Rowe, Jack Harper, and Roscoe Gebhart served on the varsity basketball squad; three more helped to make up the Reserve team. Seven journalists held coveted positions on the Advance Staff. Music attracted many sophomores, twenty in Band Orchestra, and Glee Club. Allen Cox received second place in National Music Contest; Jack Harper won a first award in the District Contest.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Standing: William Brager, Lloyd Bolinger, Gerald Imel, Bob Link, Glenn Shaw, Alvin Lerch, Jack Staynoff, Bob Shaw, Dale Bodeker, Bill Miller, Nerle Scott, Carl Aschliman, Willis Harman, Jerry Fry.

September 5, was a big day for ninety-six freshmen. It was our first day of high school which we had been eagerly looking forward to all our lives. Since that first day, eight of our classmates have withdrawn, leaving eighty-eight our present enrollment.

Mr. Wisner, math teacher, was chosen class sponsor. At our first class meeting, we elected Bob Haller, president; Cecelia Bergman, vice-president; Eugene Akers, secretary; and Bob Shaw, treasurer. We also decided on our first freshman party, which was to be a Hallowe'en party and weiner bake combined. At a later meeting, we made plans for a skating party to be held at Bells' Rink.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Standing: Leroy Hamilton, Orval Gibson, George Clamens, Dale Romey, Bill Mason, Robert Lauer, Max Farrell, Robert Fiedler, Henry Spice, William Fields, Fred Borton, Eugene Akers.

Second Row: Byron Oswald, Ora Blue, Edward Hyde, Jack Stark, Betty Wickman, Cecilia Bergman, Norma Wiegman, Peggy Felger, Claude Maldeney, Clarence Stute, Bob Haller, Paul Anson.

ACTIVITIES

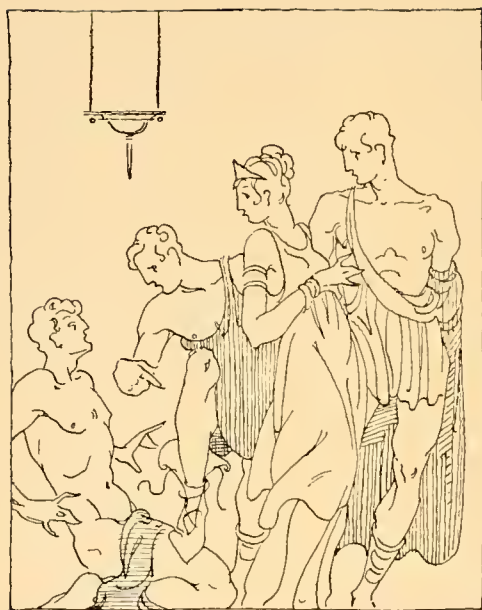

Many freshmen took part in the numerous activities of the school. Ten first year men were on the boys' basketball squad and a large number of freshmen girls were enrolled in the G. A. A. The art club, home economics, and industrial art club were well represented by the freshmen. There were sixteen freshmen on the Advance Staff. The debate squad, containing five first year students, has been quite successful. There were eight in the band and three in the orchestra. Twenty-four freshmen were in the Glee Club; and of the fifteen leading roles in the operetta, three were given to freshmen.

OUR BAND

Composed of 55 members under the direction of Mr. Goble, the Elmhurst band has taken high honors in the past year, being chosen as the best appearing band and being rated in first division for playing at the district contest at Goshen. The band gives two concerts each year and also plays at various community gatherings, besides the annual band and orchestra contest. With new uniforms the band members presents a very "snappy" appearance with Darlene Buskirk as Drum Major. Hard work and long hours of practice have made the band successful and it deserves all the honors it receives.

ORCHESTRA

ELMHURST'S ORCHESTRA

"Elmhurst's smallest organization but one of the most important" is the distinction of the Elmhurst orchestra. This organization has continued to do its part towards good fellowship since it was organized five years ago. Under Mr. Goble's supervision, this group of twenty players has given concerts at various community gatherings during the year. The ability of the orchestra was proved last year at the district band and orchestra contest in Goshen when it rated in first division. It furnishes music annually for the commencement exercises and thus brings to a close the outside activities of the school.

The 1936

GLEE CLUB

Miss Anne Steiber sponsored the Glee Club, composed of thirty-seven members, for its fifth year of work. Favorite carols and holiday observances of five nations were given at a cantata, "Christmas Through the Ages," on December 18. "Sunbonnet Girl," a two-act comedy operetta, was successfully given March 19. The struggles and achievements of an orphan girl who, although under strict guardianship, gains sudden wealth was the plot of the operetta. Prominent singing roles were taken by Helen Fusselman, Jack Harper, Kathleen Scott, and James Bell. Hymns and old, but never-to-be-forgotten songs, were sung at the Baccalureate Services on May 24.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB

Second Row: Eddie Lunz, Walter Lamboley, Robert Belschner, Charles Lauer, Albert Lunz, Paul Auman, Dallas Smith, Richard DeVilliers, Mr. Smuts.

With vocational guidance as its object, the Industrial Arts Club was organized two years ago. Mr. Smuts sponsors the club; Walter Lamboley is president, Phil Rauner is vice-president; Charles Lauer is secretary and treasurer. Trips to various industrial plants in the city, lectures by industrialists, mechanical magazine research, and the annual Thanksgiving potluck dinner have been club projects this year. At the state convention of the I. I. E. A. held at Central High School March 27 and 28, the club put on a display and demonstration of sheet metal and cold metal units.

The 1936

REGINA DOMI

Standing: Elaine Tarr, Helen Stute, Harriet Oyer, Dorothy Keiser, Elizabeth Schadt, Ione Schulten, Mildred Thurber, Faith Coleman, Frieda Schneck, Kathleen Scott, Ruth Seidner, Jean Goble.
Second Row: Pauline Roe, Marjorie Ness, Martha Richardson, Louise Jackson, Elnora Prince, Virginia McNamara, Joyce Albert, Annie Laurie Porter, Cecilia Bergman, Ruth Hower, Miss Simon.
Front Row: Eloise Price, Lucille Coleman, Anna Mae Forschner, Betty Driver, Marjorie Hargrave, Roselene Newburn, Doris Oetting, Beatrice Harris, Ruth Allen, Wyllis Wiegman, Ardivee Tarr.

"—And you also sent me that not so complimentary valentine, I suppose?" Such were the accusations voiced at the annual spring banquet when the members of the Regina Domi discovered who their peanut sisters had been for the preceeding year. Discussion of the pleasure derived from the year's subject, travel, was also heard. Speakers lectured on their travels to Hawaii, Palestine. Officers for the year were: president, Anne Mae Forschner; vice-president, Marjorie Hargrave; secretary-trasurer, Harriet Oyer; student adviser, Helen Stute. The club, sponsored by Miss Lenore Simon, is one of the most popular and successful of Elmhurst.

RIFLE CLUB

Standing: Bill Grepke, Paul Auman, Roscoe Gebhart, Roger Goble, Bob Cully, Harry Kolyer, Walt Lambole, Bob Feagles, Allen Cox, Bob Foltz, Paul Venderley.

Popular with boys and girls, the Rifle Club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Haller, has been a very prominent organization. Phil Rauner is president and Maurice Robertson is secretary-treasurer. The Rifle Club shoots annually at the county tournament. Although it has never taken the championship, the club is endeavoring to do so in the next year. The social activities of the club include a weiner bake and either a dance or a party. As members of the National Rifle Association, marksmanship badges are given the members for their accuracy and standing in the club. Rifles are owned by the school and rented to the members for a nominal sum.

FORUM CLUB

Standing: Mr. Myers, William Mason, Jack Staynoff, Bob Farrell, Charles Engle.
Sitting: Audra Baker, Joyce Albert, Pauline Bridenbaugh, Patricia Burgoon.

The Forum Club, with eight members, began another year of work, sponsored by Mr. Myers. Bob Farrell was elected president; Charles Engle, secretary-treasurer.

Elmhurst participated in fifteen decision debates during the year, winning 8 and losing 7. There were also seven practice debates. December 9, two varsity teams entered the North Eastern Indiana League. The debaters participated in the Invitational Debate Tourney, January 18 and the State High School Debate League, February 1 at North Side.

Two years of service, a membership in the National Forensic League, and a required number of participations are necessary for a pin. Those winning pins this year were Charles Engle, Bob Farrell, and Audra Baker.

SPORTS

The 1936

ELMHURST

"Dick" Carriger upholds the Trojans on the forward line. When he has the ball, get ready for action. His motto is "Never give up" (the ball); and as a result of this, he has been put out on fouls but we won't hold that against him. Dick was injured and was not in the line-up for four games of the schedule but suited up for the Sectional.

Dale McKinzie, commonly known as "Mac" and the Romeo of the team, plays guard. He usually starts the game and is substituted when it is under way. He is rather fair on long shots.

"Slugger" Charles Lauer is the center of the mighty Trojans. Easily the best and most valuable player on his team, he has been appointed captain for this year. He has nearly two hundred points on his record for this season. He plays every quarter and is good on his fouls. Usually high point man for his team, he sinks baskets from almost any distance, but excels on shots from under the basket.

"Don" Donald Scherer, a junior, has been a member of the squad for the last two years; this is his third. He is an excellent guard and seems to be good at making baskets, especially the free throws. Don not only is in the regular line-up this year but also next.

"Jack" Harper is a Sophomore and has shown scoring and defensive ability on the second team to fill the vacant forward position for next year. A lot is expected of Harper in the next two years.

TROJANS

"Al" Waldo Alberts, also a junior, has played on the squad the last two years, this being his third. Waldo plays the position of forward and has turned into a good player. He, too, is fair at sinking baskets.

William Rowe, "Bill," is assigned the job of filling the center position next year. Bill also has two more years on the squad. Bill has shown his scoring ability, and being fairly fast for his size will help him to fill Lauer's position.

"Charlie" Charles Engle plays guard and does a neat job of it. When he cuts down the center of the floor, count on a basket. Although he is seldom high point man, he is essential in raising the score. He has been in the midst of plenty of action and knows what basketball is about.

"Freddie" Frederick Gronau, a senior, is a very skilled basketball player, having played on the squad four years. He not only is a scrappy fighter but he also makes baskets, which are important in a game. Freddie saw plenty of action this year.

Roscoe Gebhart is a sophomore and known as "Gebby." Gebby plays guard and usually holds his man to a very few points. Although lacking in size, he has plenty of fighting spirit and will be a real threat for a position on the first five next year.

The 1936

TROJANS HAVE GOOD RECORD

The Elmhurst Trojans have set a very good record of games won and lost. The Trojans won fifteen games and lost five, making a per cent of seven hundred and fifty.

Elmhurst defeated several strong teams this season and also defeated teams that have never been beaten before by the Trojans. Elmhurst defeated Roanoke, Ossian and Central Catholic for the first time. Concordia and Butler were also defeated by the Trojans this season. Elmhurst bowed to Decatur Catholic and St. Mary's of Huntington; St. Mary's was State Champion of the Catholic High Schools last year.

The schedule of the games won and lost:

Opponent	We	They
Roanoke	51	17
Arcola	54	17
Leo	15	30
Churubusco	54	11

TROJAN REVIEW

The following men were picked by the News-Sentinel as valuable players on their teams:

Charles Lauer, Don Scherer, and Charles Engle received honorable mention for their ability in playing basketball during the Sectional Basketball tourney. Lauer plays center while Scherer and Engle are guards. Although Lauer and Engle graduate this year, Scherer will be back next year.

Lauer and Scherer were picked as center and guard of all county teams. Gronau placed as forward on the second team for the county—Carriger and McKinzie were those who received honorable mention.

Trojans Lose in Finals

The Elmhurst Trojans lost to Hoagland in the Allen County tourney in the final game by a score of 26-25. The Trojans defeated Harlan and Leo, the strong tourney favorite, in two preceding games. The Trojans were the defending champs but Hoagland proved to be too strong at that time for the Trojans.

Trojans Lose First Game

Elmhurst lost to Decatur in their first game of the Sectional Tourney. The Trojans did not stop fighting until the final gun was fired. The score at the first quarter was Decatur 7, Elmhurst 5. At the intermission Decatur held a three point lead. The third quarter Decatur scored 4 points while Elmhurst scored 5 points. The final score was Decatur 25, Elmhurst 19.

About the Coach

Elmhurst engaged a new coach this year. He is known as "Pete" or Mr. Byerly. The new Trojan mentor has coached for eight years, four at Arcola and a like number at Avilla; this is his ninth year. Coach Byerly's teams have enjoyed success. The best team was the Avilla team of "54-55" who won 17 out of 20 games. This year the Elmhurst team set a record of winning 15 out of 20 starts. Mr. Byerly teaches U. S. history and physical education. He attended Union Center High School and North Manchester College where he played varsity basketball.

GIRLS HAVE SUCCESSFUL SEASON

The Elmhurst Girls' Varsity Basketball Team, with Mr. Smuts as their coach, has had another successful season, winning eleven games out of fourteen. Health, strength, and skill were well displayed by the Elmhurst Team when they defeated Arcola (Evelyn Prince, the 6 foot 2 inch forward was playing) — a feat no other team has been able to do during the past 5 years.

We lost two of our most valuable players this year. Betty Ann Coolidge, a senior and a guard, is a menace to all opposing teams. Her stick-to-it-iveness is evident when the person whom she guards tries to lose her. Having played four years on the team, she knows the technique of keeping her eyes on the ball. She has earned three bars and a sweater.

Nadia Yoven played for the last time this year, too. Nadia does her part by shooting baskets; she uses a fast break, with a one-handed shot which is a combination hard to stop. Nadia earned a sweater and two bars.

The rest of the regular squad is made up of juniors who will carry on. Betty McMahon is a junior who upholds the defensive line for the Trojanettes. Playing for them three years, she has been in many games so we're looking to her to fill the place of a missing guard. She won her sweater this year.

Joan Daniels also is a guard. Although she doesn't play so much as some of the other girls, she makes it worth her while when she is in the game. She also received her sweater this year.

Helen Fusselman is another fighting guard. She is a junior, red-headed, and has played since a freshman. She should be an invaluable player next year. Next year she will receive the coveted four bar service letter.

Bettie Beaman is one of the Trojanettes' best forwards. She makes effective close-up shots. The opposing guards just aren't there when she fakes and "checks out." She has been high point girl in almost every game. Next year she'll be a star and should win a four bar service letter.

Helen Gongaware, tall and efficient, plays with Bettie at center-forward position. Last year Helen was voted the most valuable player and was chosen captain of the team this year. She will continue this good record next year. She will also receive the four bar service letter.

Mary Carriger, a forward, is a most promising member of the squad. Beatrice Harris is at the top of this list. We predict a great future for her as a forward. Doris March is another of our aspiring freshmen who shows her prowess in guarding. Connie Miller and Pauline Johnson are guards in the line-up who have seen little action but will improve rapidly with practice. Ruth Allen and Betty Wickman are two freshmen on whom we are counting.

A collage of 14 black and white photographs from the 1920s, featuring students in various settings. The photos are arranged in a grid-like fashion, with some overlapping. The subjects are primarily young men and women, likely students, dressed in typical 1920s attire. The settings include indoor spaces, outdoor areas with buildings, and a vintage car. The overall tone is nostalgic and historical.

ALFRED'S DIARY

Now, will you be so kindly as to let me tell of the time I visited Elm-hurst? Well, it was like this: after wiping the mud off my feet, I stepped into the building—Coporal Haller, (he was a corporal in my regiment over seas) came strutting up to me and gave me a long speech of welcome which I accepted graciously.

It was then that he told me that the school was having an Amateur Contest that afternoon and that he wanted me, his busom pal, to be the judge. At judging, I told him, I was an expert. I told him that I usually charged 20 bucks as a fee; but as he was my pal, my buddy, it would only cost him 50 dollars. Then since we had nothing to do until 2:50, we went down into the tunnels and shot craps until the corporal had only his pants, me having the rest of his articles of apparel.

I helped Corporal Haller put the chairs in the gymnasium, (he is the janitor and principal combined) and then he announced me as the judge to the student body and the contest began to commence. The first contestant was Skippy DeVilliers, who gave a toe dance and juggling act combined. The next was Mr. H. Weigman, who demonstrated snores of all types. Robert Aulbach then gave an interpretation as to how a love sick sophomore acts. Betty Sheets, the Freshman "Kate Smith," pleased us with a song "On the Road to Mandalay." Squint Green then recited a poem on the benefits of Education, followed by Peggy Felger, who demonstrated how cosmetics benefit (?) a girl's appearance. Bill Grepke had a good joke to tell, but laughed himself sick before he had gotten half-way through it. Norman (Inhale) Bade demonstrated how a pack of Twenty Grands can be made to disappear into smoke. Helen Fussleman, our Prima Donna, next favored us with her interpretation of Greta Garbo's song hit, "Alone." Willy Harman was to play "The Music Goes 'Round" for us but got mixed up and inhaled instead of blowing and we had to fish two valves out of his larynx. Ruthie Clem blew several wonderful bubbles with her bubble gum and Phil Rauner pulled out his pea shooter and burst a bubble right in Ruthie's face. Gee-o-gosh, was she mad; some one told me she was a whole week getting gum out of her ears. Corporal Haller ran Phil two miles before he could whop him.

Vi McCoy imitated Betty Boop and got a right smart lot of applause for it, too. Jack Stoyanoff sang "I Need Rhythm in my Nursery Rymes." Then Neleana Sanders tried to represent Mae West; they had to hold Harry Kolyer in his seat, so I guess it was realistic enough. Dick Huyette (Porky to you), the Joe E. Brown of the Sophomores, opened his mouth so wide (during his demonstration) that Miss Wimmer thought sure that he had split a few ligaments and ran for her first aid kit; but she didn't get to use it, so she kicked Mr. Wisner on the shins just so she could use some of her bandages! Little Bobby Swank, who is well adapted to the billiard cue, gave us a few pointers on its uses as a fishing pole, or golf club, or as a marshmallow stick. Evelyn Keiser was to play "Yankee Doodle" on her bass fiddle, but she was so embarrassed that she crawled right inside the darn thing, and we didn't find her 'till after the contest was over. Arlene DeLancy, who wants to run a drug store, showed us how a "Whoopee Fizz" can be made from such ordinary ingredients as varnish, liquid shoe polish, and a little marine glue. She claims that once you get used to it, you won't even feel the "kick" in it. Dick Parkison and Jack Oswald sang a duet; Jack finished first and started to applaud (for himself) which made Dick very angry as you may guess, so he told Jack that he wouldn't allow him to rent his gum any more. Kate Scott, the "Sloppy Sandwich" girl, tried to show us how cooking should be done; but Dick Carriger craned his neck so far that Scotty threatened to break their engagement unless he sat down and kept quiet. Walter Lamboley, future Maestro, ended the program by playing his symphonic arrangement of "Minnie the Moocher" on his Sousaphone.

Most of you will agree that "Skippy" was the best; I did, so I awarded him the fur lined bathing suit, which was the prize agreed upon.

SEPTEMBER

Early in September, many of the Elmhursters returned to continue their education 'neath these portals of knowledge. After settling down to a combination of work and pleasure, we made it possible to have nine different assembly programs by putting on a successful magazine campaign.

OCTOBER

The first thing that happened in October was the big assembly program given by the Freshmen because they lost the magazine campaign contest. Next the Commercial Club gave their weiner bake. The program for the month concluded with the senior dance, a big occasion for the graduating class.

NOVEMBER

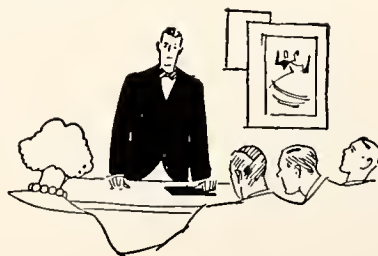

For the first basketball game of November, Elmhurst played host to Roanoke. Elmhurst next played Leo and Arcola. Games were also played with Churubusco, Roanoke, Hoagland, and Ossian. A lecture of profound interest was provided by Channing Beebe, who told of his travels in South America. An unusual theme was carried out by the Commercial Club in their "Mayflower Skipper" dance. A three-act comedy, "Campus Quarantine," was given very successfully by the Senior Class under the direction of Miss Falls.

DECEMBER

Christmas Vacation! We needed it after all the excitement of this month. There were the Debates with North Side and Lafayette Central. Then the Orpheon Quartette entertained us with music and recitations. Next the Glee Club put us in the Christmas spirit with the Christmas Cantata. Basketball kept us quite busy, too. The boys played New Haven, Central Catholic, Concordia, and Woodburn. The girls attained their highest goal—they defeated Arcola!

JANUARY

January was a big basketball month, we played four big games followed by the County Tournament which ended the athletic activities for the month. The Varsity Debate squad went to Columbia City for the tournament held there, Elmhurst placed second. Seventeen below zero gave us a day's vacation, followed by others in February.

FEBRUARY

Activities for the month began with the basketball team playing host to St. Mary's of Huntington. February 14th found Arcola invading the Elmhurst court and bowing to the Trojans. The following night the Art Club sponsored the "Sky-rocket" dance. On the night of the 28th, Elmhurst squad visited Hoagland to wind up their 1955-56 schedule where the boys displays a good brand of ball, but failed to have the necessary punch to win.

MARCH

Activities started with a bang when our rifle team lost to South Side. The Juniors next came across with a Nite Club party, a novelty in the way of entertainment. The North Side Riflemen came to our range for a match. The Glee Club then gave their operetta under Miss Steiber's direction. Then the freshmen gave a skating party. The Commercial Club sponsored a skating party on March 28th and the four year honor roll students and members of the National Honor Society were announced.

APRIL

The activities of the month consisted of the District Band Contest which opened at Peru. Next in line, the G. A. A. girls gave a Sport Dance with much success. The Home Economic Club, under the sponsorship of Miss Simon, gave a skating party as their second semester activity. The State Band Contest at Elkart decided who should go to the National Contest. Jane Dudley closed the month with her excellent interpretations of the finest music possible to the school assembly.

MAY

And now comes the last, the fullest, biggest month of all. The Sophomore party came first and following on its tail came the Home Economic Club's Banquet. A little later, the National Band Contest hit the spotlight. Tennis took the lead in sports for the month, and some pretty fast games were played during the noon hours. The Senior Banquet came next, followed by the Style Show, the Regina Domi's big event. Then last of all came Commencement.
